Chapter 1 by Nini Reyes

Mike Blacksmith is a hopeful and courageous orphan raised by a selfish and deranged matron. Eventually he gets a job working as a teacher for the helpful Lady Blunder of Blunder Church. The unlikely couple rapidly succumb to a tender passion.

On the day of their wedding, a cowardly brother escapes from the attic of Blunder Church and starts a fire. Believing that Lady Blunder is dead, Mike flees from the church and wanders the misty moors for days until he is rescued by a cute psychiatrist.

However, although Lady Blunder is blinded by the fire, she still breathes. Without Mike she becomes forgetful and cold-blooded. She turns to alcohol for comfort. The ghost of the brother from the attic haunts her.

Meanwhile, thinking Lady Blunder is dead, Mike accepts a marriage proposal from his saviour, the psychiatrist. However, one night he believes he can hear Lady Blunder calling, "Mike, where are you? Mike come home!" and he returns to Blunder Church.

On Mike's return, he finds Lady Blunder drunk and without sight. Mistaking him for the ghost of the cowardly brother, she attacks him with a spoon and Mike Blacksmith dies.

As she attends to the body, Lady Blunder realises what she has done. Driven mad with guilt, she hatches a plan to destroy the church. She succeeds in her mission and she dies of consumption two weeks later.
